Amphibious race debuts

Blues festival tries out new home on West Sac riverbank

Over 20 whimsical vehicles entered in Saturday's first ever "River Otter Amhibious Race" (ROAR), but the most important thing is that West Sacramento's entry finished ahead of Sacramento's entry -- bringing this city the first ever "Mayor's Cup" in the race.

The competition sent competitors over land in Old Sacramento to a crossing of the Sacramento River, where they proceeded to West Sacramento's Broderick Boat Ramp and emerged for the final dry-ground portion of the race, finishing on the new "River Walk" near the Money Store's ziggurat-shaped building.

The chambers of commerce on both sides of the river sponsored the event, which organizers hope will grow into an annual staple for the region. They hope it it encourage tourism and development on the two cities' joint Sacramento riverfront.

Port, city reach tentative deal over new bridge

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Adopting a resolution crafted by Sacramento appointee Tom Chinn, the commission governing the Port of Sacramento on Thursday got out of the way of West Sacramento's plans to build an "at grade" bridge over Stone Lock on Jefferson Blvd.

The low-level bridge could shut down potential future use of the waterway for commercial purposes -- including the barging of rock aggregate, envisioned by port commission members Larry McConnell and Kevin Forsberg as a possible major revenue source for the port.

The compromise, which drew the support of West Sacramento Mayor Christopher Cabaldon after some wording changes, stated that the port will endorse the city's bridge proposal. In return, the city must guarantee that, should the port determine that barge traffic is economically attractive, the city "will not object to the concept" of a more expensive bridge design to replace the cheaper planned crossing. A high-rise or movable bridge could allow commercial traffic to continue through the barge canal that crosses Jefferson Blvd.

Commissioner Kevin Forsberg cast a lone vote against the resolution, after reiterating her hopes that the barging of gravel and aggregate from the Feather River area, down the Sacramento River, and through Stone Lock towards the Bay Area could be economically feasible.

"I would hope that the city would be in fervent support of barging the aggregate through the locks, and if they aren't now, they very soon could be," said Forsberg. "In fairness to the potential pluses to the port and the environmental impact (air quality savings) of barging, this is something that should be looked at."

"This particular approval would not preclude any future requirements to modify the two-lane span if it would provide better use of the canal," said Chinn of his resolution.

Port commissioner Mike McGowan, also a Yolo Co. supervisor and a former West Sacramento councilman, vocally supported Chinn's compromise, referring to Forsberg and McConnell as "two maverick commissioners" who had stymied West Sacramento's plan for a bridge.

He also called the two commissioners' process of studying the proposal -- including their request that a port consultant donate her services to research the gravel barging project -- as "inappropriate."

Port commission chairman responded to McGowan's questioning on the consultant's labor.

"I told her she cannot charge us for it because the commission has not stated a policy," said McConnell.

Consultant Rose Marie Moore reported that conditions may have changed enough to bring back commercial use of the lock at Stone and Jefferson -- traffic which used to include thousands of barge and tugboat trips per year, she said.

McConnell emphasized that the gravel barging traffic would be consistent with the port's mission.

"What we're here to do, is expand waterborne commerce as a state agency,"he said.

He also said he planned on asking the port commission to formally begin a study on the feasibility of attracting barge traffic through the locks and the Port of Sacramento.

"What's happening is that we have new economic considerations, and I'm asking the commission to look at this before shutting down the asset (Stone Lock)," he said.

Along with Mayor Cabaldon, West Sacramento city council members Jim Cahill and Mark Montemayor were in the audience at Thursday's port meeting.

The city council must now formally agree to the resolution to put it into effect. Then, the city must successfully lobby federal officials to permit the at-grade crossing. Stone Lock is operated by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, but has been disused for a number of years.

ABOUT TOWN: Activist Kay Cheever

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

Katharine "Kay" Cheever is a longtime West Sacramento political activist who was born in Westerly, Rhode Island and moved to Trenton, New Jersey when she was seven years old. After graduating from high school, she worked at the local public library and took college night courses until World War Two beckoned.

Like most men and women of her generation, Kay wanted to do whatever she could to bring the war to a successful conclusion and she decided to join the Marines.

"It was a thrilling experience being around a thousand other determined, hard-working women of all ages from all over the country," said Kay, who did her basic training at Camp LeJeune, North Carolina. "We were all united by one goal, to win the war, and the esprit' de corps was really wonderful."

Kay soon found herself stationed in San Francisco, California where her duties included the shipping of wartime essentials wherever they were needed and she was still on the job in the summer of 1945 when the tremendously exciting news arrived that all hostilities had finally ended.

"When looking back on the war years," said Kay, "people often forget that victory was never really a sure thing. Our country was fighting some pretty nasty foes and all the way up to the Battle of the Bulge, the outcome in Europe was still in doubt. Plus everyone thought we would have to invade Japan itself before the war in the Pacific would ever end. As horrific as the dropping of the atomic bomb was, there were estimates that it may have saved a million American soldiers their lives."

While stationed in San Francisco, Kay met another Marine named Howard Cheever and it wasn't long before they were dating and making plans to spend their lives together.

"My husband was from Wisconsin and he was a very bright and charming man," said Kay. "We were married in 1946 and like many of the military personnel from other states who had found themselves stationed in California during the war, we decided to stay. We worked and lived in Ukiah for awhile and then we moved to West Sacramento in 1953. Back then, West Capitol Avenue's motels were always full of travelers and our local businesses were thriving. That all changed of course when the new highway went in, but West Sacramento has always been a good place to raise children and our son and two daughters had a great time growing up here. Edward especially enjoyed playing in the high school band, Ellen was very active in cheerleading, and Mary was in all the plays. We were also very proud of how well they did with their studies."

When Kay first moved to West Sacramento, she played a key role in establishing the James Marshall Parent Nursery School.

"It was something young mothers in this community really needed," said Kay, "and it's still going strong to this day. The

West Sacramentan Mort Geivett tapped for RCHS principal's post

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

West Sacramento resident Morton Geivett was unanimously approved by the Washington Unified School District Board of Trustees last Thursday evening to be the new principal at River City High School. The 5-0 vote was announced by Dr. Dennis Kelleher, WUSD Superintendent of Schools, who said, "It will be a real asset to have a principal with Mort's experience at River City who lives in the community and is familiar with the culture and diversity here."

Kelleher's press release stated that Geivett was one of six applicants interviewed for the position and that the committee which recommended him to the Superintendent and Board of Education also did so unanimously.

Geivett is a graduate of California State University, Sacramento and has a Master of Arts degree in School Management from the University of LaVerne, where he is currently working on his Doctor of Education degree in Educational Management

Geivett brings a wealth of experience to his new job. He has been the principal at Vacaville High School (1900 students) for the past four years and prior to that, he was the principal of Winters High School for three years. He was also a English and social studies teacher for eight years and spent time as a multi-cultural coordinator, dean and assistant principal.

"I really enjoyed working at the high schools in Vacaville and Winters," said Geivett, "but the time has come in my life when I want to work in the community where I live and where my children go to school. For more years than I care to count, I've been driving 40 minutes each way to work and a daily commute like that no longer makes sense. I want to be able to spend more time with my family and attend all of my children's ball games and soccer matches. Plus I'm really looking forward to the professional challenges that await me at River City and I'm anxious to get started."

Geivett estimates that his current responsibilities at Vacaville High School will keep him on that campus for the rest of this week, but he hopes to be working at his new job by Monday, October 4th. River City is currently being administered by Interim Principal Jose Rodriguez, a 20 year veteran of WUSD who will return to his Assistant Principal's position when Geivett takes over the reins.

"I've heard nothing but good things about Mr. Geivett," said Rodriguez, "and I'm very much looking forward to working with him. Being from this community, I'm sure he already knows how great our kids are and I think he'll also be pleased with the many fine teachers and supporting staff we have at River City."

Geivett is hopeful that West Sacramento voters will come out in large numbers on November

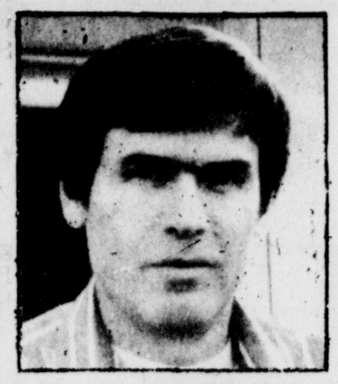
Some questions that don't have well-known answers

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

Like most of the poor souls who consider themselves small-town columnists and have to somehow come up with 750 brand new words each week to put into their hometown newspaper, I'm always on the lookout for books or magazine articles or anything else which just might interest readers and at the same time also do most of my work for me. One such book, entitled "Why Do Some Shoes Squeak" by a man named George W. Stimpson, recently came to my attention and here are just a few of the almost 600 answers he provides to what I think are some very important questions:

What causes the holes in Swiss cheese? The characteristic holes in Swiss cheese are produced by gases generated by bacterial action during the process of fermentation. It is also probable that the grazing pastures of particular regions influence the formation of the gases and holes, too.

Do tornadoes actually drive straws into boards? Yes. The velocity of the wind in the whirl of a tornado sometimes attains a speed of 300 miles an hour. That such wind frequently drives quills, straws and splinters into solid boards and tree trunks has been well established.

What is the function of a cat's whiskers? There is an old belief that a cat uses its whiskers to determine whether it can squeeze through a small hole or opening. According to this notion, the whiskers are exactly the same width as the animal's body and if they touch the sides of the hole the cat will not attempt to enter.

Does corn grow faster in the day or in the night? Other things being equal, corn grows most rapidly on warm nights.

Did Mrs. O'Leary's cow really start the great Chicago fire of 1871? No. Mrs. O'Leary's cow is a mythical animal and the story that the fire was started by a kerosene lantern kicked over by a cow which was being milked by Mrs. O'Leary was fabricated by a newspaper reporter. The fire, which killed 250 people and destroyed 17,500 Chicago buildings was probably started by spontaneous combustion or the carelessness of persons smoking in the barn.

Are elephants afraid of mice? No. The greatest fears of wild elephants in India are said to be dogs and human beings.

Why is the engagement ring worn on the fourth finger? The custom of wearing engagement and wedding rings on the fourth finger of the left hand originated in an ancient belief that a very delicate nerve runs directly from that finger to the heart.

Why do monkeys search through their hair? It is generally supposed that monkeys continually search through their own hair and that of other monkeys for fleas, lice, and other body parasites. Actually, salt exudes from the pores of the skin of monkeys and remains on loose bits of skin, and it is for these that the animals are continually searching and picking.

Why is it considered unlucky for a black cat to cross one's path? That it is a sign of bad luck for a black cat to cross one's path a short distance ahead is one of the most prevalent of all superstitions. It probably originated with the medieval belief that Satan often assumed the form of a black tom-cat when he sallied out upon an excursion of mischief.

Are bulls excited more by red than other colors? No. Bullfighters dress in bright colors and wave pieces of bright-red colored cloth in the arena mostly to attract the spectators. White is actually the color that is most effective for infuriating a bull. But it is the brightness of the cloth in motion rather than any particular color that maddens the bull.

How did the honeymoon originate? It was the custom of an ancient people who inhabited the northern parts of Germany to drink mead, or metheglin, a beverage made with honey, for 30 days after every wedding, but the custom of the honeymoon probably symbolizes the primitive practice of stealing the bride and concealing her from her people.

(Editor's note: Pardon the intrusion, but the editor have heard that the word "honeymoon" derives from drinking mead (honey) for one month (one "moon") -- a practice which was supposed to ensure the birth of a male child. If it succeeded, the meadmaker got much of the credit!)

Why do sea shells roar? The noise is merely a composite of the echoes of a great number of ordinary sounds occurring in the vicinity of the shell. Because of the peculiar shape of the shell and the smoothness of its interior, the least vibration produces an echo, and numerous such echoes are blended into what sounds like a rumble or roar.

Why do we have a best man at weddings? The custom of having a best man at weddings is believed to be have originated during the days of primitive marriage by capture, when a man seized a woman and carried her away by force. He would naturally, under such circumstances, select a faithful friend or follower to go with him to help ward off the attacks of the girl's kinsmen while he stole away with her. Thus the selection of a best man actually represents early man's need to take a friend with him on a prehistoric marauding expedition.

Seniors urged to get flu vaccinations

From the County of Yolo Health Department

Flu season is just around the corner, and county officials remind area seniors to take advantage of the low cost community flu shot clinics this fall to protect themselves from influenza in the winter.

County Health Officer Dr. Bette Hinton, M.D., said annual flu shots are important for seniors because seniors are more likely than others to become seriously ill if they get the flu.

"Influenza viruses weaken the body, which makes older adults more susceptible to other infections. That's why, for seniors, prevention is essential," said Dr. Hinton. "With aging, disease-fighting ability slows down and you don't snap back after a couple of days of flu like you did when you were younger. Without a flu shot, a serious case of flu can develop quickly and worsen rapidly."

Last year, 2,827 residents received flu shots through the county program.

Flu shots will be given at the following times for a suggested $5 donation:

Monday, Oct. 11, from 9 a.m. to noon at the Sam Combs Community Center at 205 Stone Blvd. in West Sacramento;

Wednesday, Nov. 3, from 12:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the West Sacramento Senior Center, 664 Cummins Way in West Sacramento.

Seniors may get a pneumococcal pneumonia immunization and a tetanus-diptheria booster at the flu clinic as well. For most, the pneumococcal vaccine is given just once in a lifetime and is recommended for those 65 and older. Cost is $10.

Tetanus boosters are needed by all adults every 10 years; cost is $10.

For questions, including eligibility, please call (530) 666-8645.

The Vancouver Canadians defeated the Charlotte Knights in Las Vegas last Saturday to win the Triple-A World Series. Next season the 1999 Pacific Coast League Champion Canadians will play at Raley's Field in West Sacramento. The River City Baseball Company is having a contest to name the team, which is the Oakland A's top minor-league club. You can call them at (916) 447-HITS for contest details and season tickets information.

Vancouver finished with the best regular season record (84-58) in the 16-team Pacific Coast League. Keep an eye out for 23-year old third baseman Adam Piatt. Piatt became the first player in 72 years to win the Texas League Triple Crown. Playing for the A's Double-A affiliate in Midland, Piatt batted .345 with 39 home runs and 135 RBI in 129 games. He was called up to Vancouver last week and was one of the big reasons the Canadians beat the Knights in the best of five series.

The Sacramento Kings are opening training camp Oct. 1 at the Sacramento Convention Center. Their first preseason game is set for Oct. 13. The Kings and Minnesota Timberwolves will open the regular season playing back to back games on Friday, Nov. 5 and Saturday, Nov.6 in Tokyo, Japan. The Kings and T-Wolves will play at the 38,000 seats Tokyo Dome, where tickets are priced from $250 to $10. Guess who the Kings play in their home opener on Friday, November 12? Yes, the Utah Jazz!!

The Giants (83-73) are out of the post-season race after being swept by the Arizona Diamondbacks last weekend but the A's (84-72) are still holding on to a slim chance in the A.L wildcard race. The A's have six games remaining and trail the Red Sox by 6 games. The Giants and Dodgers will tangle on Thursday, September 30, for the last time this century at 3-Com/Candlestick Park. The 40-year old ballpark will no longer be the home of the Giants.

Next Season the Giants will open the season at the brand new Pacific Bell Park in downtown San Francisco. The Giants first game at Candlestick Park was April 12, 1960 against the St. Louis Cardinals. The price of admission was $3.50!

How about the Sacramento Hornets and their All-American running back Charles Roberts! The Hornets are playing great football knocking off U.C. Davis on Sept. 18th and then last Saturday they put a 41-10 mugging on Montana St. Roberts, the 5-foot-6, 175 pound junior broke his own rushing record (269) by running threw Montana St. for 277 yards! If you haven't seen this guy play you're missing out. The Hornets at No. 24 are finally getting their first ranking in Division I-AA since joining that division in 1993.

The Hornets (3-1, 1-1 Big Sky Conference) are away this week at Weber State but the game to see will be on at home October 9 against Portland State. For tickets call (916) 278-4323 or any BASS ticket outlet. The 49ers survived a scared from Arizona on Monday night after the Cardinals knocked out Steve Young. The Niners won the game 24-10 but Young was lost for the second half of the nationality televised game. The 49ers head home for a big game on Sunday, Oct. 1 (1 p.m.) against the new Tennessee Titans.

The Titans beat Jacksonville last week and we know what the Jaguars did to the 49ers! The Raiders had a great game against the Vikings a couple of weeks ago but they struggled with Chicago last week winning 24-17 with a late touchdown. The Raiders travel on Sunday to Seattle for a late afternoon game (5 p.m. ESPN).

Sorry I missed you guys last week while on vacation but here are my picks for week four! (My current record stands at 3 wins, 3 losses). Take the Raiders (+3 ½) to beat the Seahawks (Oakland 27 – Seattle 24) and the 49ers (- 4) will not only cover the spread but also embarrass the Titans (San Francisco 34 – Tenn. 10).

On my Monday Night pick, I like Miami (- 4 ½) in a close low scoring game, Miami 17 – Buffalo 10.

See ya next week!!

Runs by Marino, Shaw help RCHS edge Vanden

By Chuck Robinson

River City High School's varsity football team pulled out a 32-27 win over Vanden on Friday.

In the first quarter, Vanden scored on a 38-yard pass and kick to lead 7-0. River City then scored on a 20-yard run by Robert Cervantes, and the kick was no good, making it 7-6, Vanden.

In the second quarter, Vanden scored on a 13-yard pass and the kick failed, as Vanden took a 13-6 lead. River City then scored on a 29-yard field goal kicked by Morton Geivett, bringing River City to within four points.

River City got a break when Vanden fumbled on the Raiders' two-yard line, and the Raiders' Brooks Marino scooped it up and ran 98 yards for a touchdown. On a faked kick, Zafar Niazi passed to Yasser Salman for a two point conversion, helping River City take the lead 17-13.

In the fourth quarter, Vanden scored on a one yard run and kicked for a point, retaking a 20-17 lead. River City scored next on a 48-yard pass from Marino to Rakesh Sharma, and the kick failed, making it 23-20

River City kicked off, and when Vanden took the ball and dropped back into its end zone, the Raiders tackled for a two-point safety, making the score 25-20. With 2:57 left, River City's Malfred Shaw broke four tackles and scrambled 86 yards for a touchdown. Geivett kicked the extra point, making it 35-20.

With less than a minute left, Vanden scored on a three yard run and kicked to make the final score River City 32, Vanden 27.

Coach Brian Watkins lit a fire under his defense, and what a defensive job they did. Marino made five tackles, three assists, two pass interceptions and a fumble recovery; Eric King had ten tackles and five assists; Mario Santos had five tackles and nine assists, with one quarterback sack; David Saldana had eight tackles and five assists, with a quarterback sack; Mohammad Salman had seven tackles and six assists; Clay Harrell had five tackles, three assists and a fumble recovery; and Rakesh Sharma had eight tackles and five assists.

Meanwhile, the junior varsity squad was defeated by Vanden 20-14.

Vanden scored in the second quarter on a 12-yard run and passed for a two-point conversion attempt, making it 14-0. In the third quarter, River City scored on a 55-yard run by Jeff Jones, and Stephen Marquez kicked the extra point, bringing the score to 14-7, Vanden.

River City scored again on a one yard run by quarterback

Soroptimist plans faire

From Soroptimist International of West Sacramento

Soroptimist International of West Sacramento is planning its 23rd Annual Holiday Potpourri Crafts Faire & Luncheon, scheduled for Nov. 6.

The event will be held in the River City High School campus, and the site is open to the public from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., with free admission.

Soroptimist is an organization for business and professional women, and the club motto is "Best for Women." West Sacramento's chapter works on many community service projects -- including the recent furnishing of a "soft" interview room at the new city police facility. The room gives crime victims (including children) a place to talk to police in a non-threatening environment. The club also gave $2,500 to local graduating high school students last year.

Funds raised also support the battered women's shelter, the Yolo Co. Children's Sexual Abuse Clinic, the John H. Jones Community Clinic in West Sacramento and many senior citizens' activities. The holiday potpourri serves as the club's main fundraiser for the year.

Visitors will find handcrafted merchandise and many one-of-a-kind items. New vendors are invited to call Eva at 371-8126, or Lora at 590-0576.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

WUSD: Different day, same cow pie

Members of the Washington Unified School District board of trustees on Thursday hired a new high school principal. In doing so (with the best of intentions), the board again appeared to violate the state's open meeting laws, which seek to keep the business of local government above-board and accessible to the public.

The mistake is nearly identical to a highly publicized error made by the same district officials two months earlier. In that situation, the board acted in closed session to hire an interim high school principal. That hiring, too, was not on the agenda made public for the meeting.

That July hiring was one of several board actions which, this newspaper pointed out, violated the Brown Act. It was the only one of several apparent violations which the district attempted to correct. After receiving confidential advice from their attorney that they had indeed broken the law, the board properly scheduled a new agenda discussion for the hiring -- and the applicant "withdrew" his name.

At the time, district officials also vowed to brush up on the Brown Act (issuing a copy of the law to each board member) and to refrain from further Brown Act mistakes.

Several district officials also, quite privately, complained that the News-Ledger was "nitpicking" by raising the issue at all. But in at least two of the instances during the summer, these violations served both the public and the board quite poorly. The impact of these violations went beyond the trivial.

When the board met this summer to discuss modifying the requirements for one high school senior to be eligible for graduation ceremonies, and to be eligible to graduate, it did so when the item was not on its agenda. Because the public had no notice that the closed session discussion would occur, a number of students in similar situations may not have been able to participate in the discussion. Members of the public missed an opportunity to comment on graduation standards. And the facts of the case were not adequately researched; at least one highly charged fact which contributed to the board's decision was simply wrong.

Advance notice could have helped ensure the board's decision was the right one, and fair to all local students.

When the board met to hire an interim high school principal in July -- one who was expected to be in charge of the campus well into this school term -- it had no advance information on the candidate it was being asked to approve. That, combined with the fact that the candidate was an acquaintance of the district superintendent, created at least an appearance of impropriety. Again, the public and school board would both have better been served by following state law. The item should have been on the agenda and the school board should have received an advance agenda report. The public should have had a chance to offer its comments before the board went into closed session to make its decision.

Last Thursday, the board was faced with a closed session agenda that listed only the subject of expulsion hearings for three students. The possible hiring of a new high school principal (notice of which is required by Government Code Sections 54954.2 and 54954.5) was nowhere to be found. This was made public Wednesday -- which should have been enough to alert school board members to avoid stepping directly on the cow pie on Thursday.

But apparently no district officials saw a problem with taking action on the hiring anyway. So they did it again.

The amazing thing is that some district officials truly do not understand why much of the public has little faith in WUSD's leadership.

Letters to the Editor

Fix the blight

On Wednesday night, Sept. 29 (tonight), the city council will hold a Strategic Plan meeting.

This meeting will begin the process for approving or disapproving specific projects contained in the Redevelopment Dept. and the capital preliminary budgets for the fiscal year 1999-2000. The City of West Sacramento's Redevelopment Agency was formed to remedy slum and unpleasant living conditions, badly-planned areas, and unused land. Its project area number one was instituted in 1986. It covered a majority of the urbanized portions of the city, including the entire Washington Plan area.

Fourteen years later, the Washington Plan area's residential and infrastructure blight have not been remedied. the implementation of the Washington Specific Plan is long overdue.

West Sacramento residents will request from the City Council, at the Strategic Plan meeting, that redevelopment tax increments and bonds be set aside for key priorities in the Washington District -- specifically, the enhancement of residential areas.

The Washington District is West Sacramento's only designated blighted area. Its blight affects all of West Sacramento.

Citizens, please lend your support and join us at the Strategic Plan Meeting, City Hall, 6:15 p.m. on Sept. 29.

Gratitude to library

As Commander of West Sacramento VFW Post 8762, I would like to thank the Arthur F. Turner Library and its staff for allowing our post to set up a small exhibit inside the building.

This year marked the 100th anniversary of the VFW in the United States, and we looked all over for a spot to showcase that event. Then it occurred to us that the library had a glass case on the wall by the entrance, and we asked librarian Cathy Lorda if it was available. She said it was and the necessary form was filled out. The response was truly amazing.

It's nice to know that such a valuable community resource exists in this city. Again, my most sincere thanks to the library.

Announcing retirement

I am pleased to announce that after 36 years of public service, 33 with Yolo County Probation, I have decided to retire as Yolo County Chief Probation Officer effective October 1, 1999. As I prepare to leave the profession and the County to which I have dedicated the better part of my life, I find myself reflecting upon the hundreds of wonderful experiences and the many exceptionally bright and talented people I have come to know and admire. Among these people are those elected to, employed by, or volunteer with city, school, and county governments as well as those extraordinary persons who spend such long hours with private nonprofit community based service organizations.

Although much has clearly changed over the almost four decades of my service, the one dynamic that has remained constant is the exceptional quality of the people with whom I have been privileged to work. The excitement, creativity and energy these dedicated folks bring to public service is as inspirational as it is productive. In fact, it wa only through this very experienced and energy-rich dynamism that county services were effectively maintained during the 1990s when we saw both historic caseload growth and deep financial recession simultaneously. The proudest remembrance of my long career will be my association with these truly remarkable people.

As I proceed toward the always-bittersweet convergence of busy, engaging career and retirement, I find much in Yolo County public life about which to remain excited and optimistic. Over the past year or so, there have been substantial improvements in program outcomes and efficiencies which derive from exciting new local partnerships between city, school and county governing boards, departments, programs, and community based organizations. Just two examples of such active partnerships are the Yolo Co. Conservation Partnership between the Probation Dept., Alcohol/Drug Mental Health Dept., County Office of Education, and California Conservation Corps and the Youth Service Partnership between the West Sacramento City Police and County Probation Departments. There are many more.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered three feet one inch, United States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. This reading was taken at high tide and indicates an increasing depth in the stream. The islands located north of the Southern Pacific bridge and one of which is nearly opposite the intake of the Sacramento water works are growing a splendid crop of hay. Never since the first settlers came here has a similar condition been known to exist in the river, and those who know or who should know, believe that such a condition may not prevail again in years to come.

H. N. Cockrum, rural carrier in the West Sacramento district, as it is technically known, Rural Route No. 8 out of Sacramento, is authority for the statement that a great deal of mail is being delivered to the farmers of the West Sacramento district. This may be occasioned, of course, by the fact that the carrier only covers the route three days every week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Then again, the road on the river levee extending from River View to West Sacramento is not in a very good condition, and the carrier believes that it will almost be impassable during the winter season. Residents of the district would be sorry to see the route discontinued and may possibly set to work to do some repairs on the road.

Irrigation pumps that have been used all summer by the West Sacramento Company are about to be discontinued in pumping during the next week. At this writing all ditches are filled to the brim and since nearly all the crops have been harvested there is no further need for irrigation. As a matter of fact not a single complaint has been heard this year about lack of water in the irrigation ditches of West Sacramento.

The West Side Auto Camp under the direction of McNally & Partridge is having several more additions made for conveniences to tourists and campers. A community kitchen has been built and at this writing a community laundry is being constructed as an addition to the kitchen. Lavatories are also being built and a large septic tank is being provided for the camp. McNally assures the Independent that the trend of travel now is mostly from the north and east with very few tourists going north or east. He believes that travelers are on their way to homes at southern points.

An electric power line was extended yesterday to the swimming tank lately built by Joe Pereira at the West Sacramento Auto Camp site. This is preliminary to a large supply of water from a new well that has been sunk in the vicinity of the swimming tank. Joe regrets that the failure of his first well did not give him an opportunity to furnish a swimming tank for his people during the late hot spell.

Another addition made at the West Sacramento Auto Camp is a supply of hot water for the community kitchen, the community laundry and the shower baths that have been built in the camp. Pereira is also of the impression that most of his customers are tourists who are now returning from the north and east and the demand is so strong that he is forced to turn away many campers every night.

An ugly gash that has been discommoding auto drivers on Fifth street for many months past was being put in repair yesterday by Henry Leinberger. This depression was located immediately south of Death Curve and was very annoying at the foot of the grade because it looked a great deal worse than it really was.

Repairs were made yesterday to a large hole that had caved in at Fourth and Anne streets by the Pacific Gas & Electric Company. This rut was caused by the caving of the street at the point where gas mains were laid last spring. The hole was so large that it became dangerous and no notification from Judge Barry that the condition of the street was bad a force of men were sent to make immediate repairs.

William Bartle and wife were visitors in Washington yesterday from Sparks, Nevada, and were guests at the home of Ray Peek and family. Bartle has been moved again from Sparks to Ogden and before making the change decided to visit his old friends in Washington. He and his wife left for Ogden Thursday night.

Ed Peek and wife returned yesterday from a month's visit spent in the State of Indiana and other eastern points. They report having had a splendid time, especially with relatives, but declare that they were glad to get back to California. Regarding the enforcement of prohibition, Peek would have little to say, but it evidently appeared that in several points where he visited in the east that the people knew little or nothing about the Volstead law.

William Dupzyk is at home on a visit with his folks after having spent several months at work in San Francisco.

Mrs. W. McDonald is a visitor at Bartlett Springs where she has been sojourning during the past ten days.

Yesterday afternoon Angelo Bonomi and four friends were around town with five fine bucks that had been just brought in from Plumas County. The meat looked so good that all the residents of the neighborhood called to take a peek, but since the deer were not dressed nobody got a toothful. Bonomi promised that the Independent would share in his good luck, especially because the deer weighed heavy, none being less than one hundred and fifty pounds. This was the first hunt that Angelo ever had of this kind and his prowess in landing five with his friends elated him to such a degre that he crossed the river to show everybody. It is against the law to have deer meat in one-s possession in Yolo County at this season and when he was remided of the law he made a quick run across the M street bridge.

George Patterson is at home for a few days from Grass Valley where he has been steadily employed for several weeks packing fruit in that mountain district. Today he left for Monterey to continue his work for a Sacramento fruit firm and later on expects to go to Lemon Cove, Tulare County, to start packing the citrus crop of that locality.

F. L. White, Jr., and Wallace White have left on a deer hunt to Happy Meadows. Mrs. White will visit her mother, Mrs. Henry Jasper, in Wheatland during her husband's absence.

BONDS OF WEST SACRAMENTO CO. FAIL TO SELL

Bonds in the amount of $171,000 failed to sell last Wednesday, September 24, at the office of the treasurer of Yolo County in Woodland.

Sale of the bonds was advertised in many mediums but no offers were received when the sale was called by County Treasurer Cole.

Of course the condition of the bond market at the present time is not favorable to the sale of these securities because they may be called in by the corporation at any time that there are funds on hand for their redemption. These bonds bear interest at 6 per cent and are destined to mature in 1941, but might be redeemed at any time previous to that date when funds of the corporation are available for their redemption.

Another provision that mitigated against the sale of these bonds was the provision that they must be sold at par. It is very seldom now that any bonds are sold at par except those of state, county or municipal corporations.

These bonds are divided into amounts of $1,000 each and were callable at any time prior to date of maturity.

It now becomes incumbent on the trustees of the West Sacramento district to levy regular assessments to pay off those bonds. This has been customary in the past and land owners of the district felt the weight of these redemptions very seriously in years of poor productions and poor prices.

The amount to be paid off on January 1, 1925, is $57,000, and an assessment is about to be placed on the land within the district to raise that amount before January 1.

Notices are about to be sent out and will be mailed on October 1 to all property owners in the district for their necessary share to raise the amount specified. Those assessments will be delinquent on November 1.

Had the bond sale that was scheduled for last Wednesday been successful a postponement would have been effected until January 1, 1941, thus relieving the farmers to a great extent during several years to come.

There were no offers for the purchase of the bonds when the sale was called at the court house last Wednesday.

PREVENTION OF SMALLPOX AND DIPHTHERIA DISCUSSED BY THE AUTHORITIES BEFORE BOOSTERS' CLUB OF WASHINGTON

The principal subject before the Washington Boosters' Club last Tuesday evening was the discussion of preventive measures used against smallpox and diphtheria.

Word had been passed at the previous meeting that Dr. H. D. Lawhead with Mrs. Rozzie Carrow, public health nurse of Yolo County, would be present to explain to the parents of Washington necessary steps for the prevention of smallpox and diphtheria.

Unfortunately Dr. Lawhead was unable to be present at the meeting last Tuesday evening and Dr. H. H. Look of Sacramento took his place. Mrs. Rozzie Carrow was also present and told the parents of the club what had already been done in preventive measures.

Unfortunately only a small crowd attended the meeting last Tuesday evening, when as a matter of fact every parent in the district should have been present so that they might understand preventive measures against these diseases that would cost them next to nothing.

Dr. Look explained the difference between anti-toxin and toxin-anti-toxin. He said that anti-toxin is used by physicians to help stop disease where it has already been located in some human being and toxin-anti-toxin was used as a preventive to disease that would cover the child or growing person for a period of at least seven years.

Toxin-anti-toxin is enduring and lasts for years. It produces immunity in the human being for several years but anti-toxin only helps to cure the child or person already afflicted and endures only for a maximum period of six months.

Ninety per cent of those treated with toxin-anti-toxin are made immune against either of these diseases for many years.

Success follows the administration of toxin-anti-toxin in nearly every case.

Dr. Look further explained that in the administration of toxin-anti-toxin there are no reactions whatever as it happens in some cases of vaccination. The child may continue at school with no indication of fever or any other evil results. The administration of toxin-anti-toxin has the support and backing of the public health service of the United States and now has the support of the public health service of Yolo County.

Mrs. Rozzie Carrow explained that the treatment was being administered to all the school children of Yolo County at actual cost of the materials used, namely $1.00 per head for every child in each family, but in no case is a family charged more than $3.00, no matter how many children there may be.

She also explained that the health authorities of the country were over anxious to administer the treatment to all pre-school children who are more subject to contagion from these diseases than older children or adults.

The treatment is administered by the use of a hypodermic injection with no painful results like that following vaccination.

Following the explanation by Dr. Look and Mrs. Rozzie Carrow many questions were asked by those present so that each parent could be thoroughly advised in the premises.

M'ANULTY IS EXPECTED EARLY PART OF NEXT WEEK

Promotion of the sale of West Sacramento city will be expedited on the arrivel of one of the McAnulty brothers at West Sacramento the early part of next week.

On completion of the deal with the West Sacramento Company, one of the brothers went east to Minneapolis where the headquarters of the company are located and the other went south to Los Angeles, where an office is maintained and where a good deal of promotion work has been done by the corporation.

The Los Angeles visitor is expected the early part of next week to make his headquarters in West Sacramento and periodically it is expected that the other brother will visit in the locality.

Confirming the report made by the Independent several weeks ago concerning this matter the downtown association of Sacramento in its issue dated September 18, says:

"One of the most effective aids for the stabilization of property values in Sacramento will be the development of West Sacramento, through the subdivision of a large acreage and the building of a large number of homes on the town site. Active operations will be commenced inside of two weeks.

"It is estimated that on the West Sacramento tract alone there will be a population of 10,000 within ten years. At the rate of increase in population in Broderick and Riverbank we can add 5,000 more, making 15,000 persons living across the Sacramento River, nearer to the State Capitol than residents of Oak Park or East Sacramento, nearly all of whom will be owners of homes. This estimate is conservative, in view of the proposed development of industrial enterprises on the west bank of the Sacramento River.

"Of course there will be business houses in the thriving district across the river, but at the same time Sacramento merchants will find their daily receipts swelled by purchases by persons living on the west side of the Sacramento River. This city will also be the jobbing center for the West Sacramento, Broderick and Riverbank merchants.

"Subdivision of 1,500 acres of agricultural land and the building of 500 homes on the West Sacramento townsite subdivision of 1,500 acres of land and the development of West Sacramento into a thriving and populous suburb of Sacramento with good streets, sewer and water systems are made possible under the contract between the bondholders committee of the West Sacramento Company and McAnulty Brothers of St. Paul, Minnesota, and Los Angeles, signed recently.

"Thomas D. McAnulty, senior partner of the firm of McAnulty Brothers, who is now in Los Angeles on business connected with the contract, will soon make his headquarters in West Sacramento for the subdivision of the land and the building of homes on the West Sacramento townsite.

"The land, which will be subdivided into five, ten and twenty acre tracts, is partly developed. On each subdivision, McAnulty Brothers plan to build a neat home, barn and other outbuildings for the purchasing settler. This plan is an innovation in land settlement in Northern California and has its advantages in the fact the settler moves into a home with his Sacramento tract inside of eighteen months. The townsite will be sold in lots of size to suit the purchaser, who will be allowed to make a selection from plans for his home and without delay building will be commenced. It is planned to dispose of the lots and homes on easy payments.

McAnulty Brothers have had a long and successful experience in land subdivision and handling of townsites. The West Sacramento subdivision will be offered for sale in their offices in St. Paul, Los Angeles and Sacramento.

DOPE TOURISTS IN WASHINGTON SENT TO FEDERAL PRISON

Before the federal court in Sacramento last Monday, Abbott Jepson and Alfonso Brown were sent to Leavenworth prison by Judge Kerrigan, the first for thirty months and the second for fifteen months on the charge of being confirmed dope users.

Jepson was picked up by Constable Buckingham near the bean warehouse in West Sacramento. With him was Brown and in their possession were found seven bindles of narcotics ready to be sold at $1.00 each.

They had just wandered across the M street bridge from Sacramento, but when arraigned before the federal court gave Yolo as their place of abode.

SIX JAPANESE INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

Six Japanese were injured, one seriously, when a motor truck in which they were riding struck a sheep on the highway near the Yolo causeway Saturday and turned over. According to the story given to Detective J. T. McGuire of Sacramento, the truck with the six men was proceeding in the direction of Sacramento, when a lone sheep in the road ran directly in front of the truck. The machine struck the animal, killed it and then turned over.

The seriously injured man is Saicha Monti, a laborer, who was removed to the Sisters Hospital for an X-ray examination. It is believed that his spine was fractured and his lungs punctured. K. Sugiyama and F. Tomita received severe lacterations of the scalp and were brought to the emergency hospital. The other three Japanese escaped with bruises and cuts.

STEWART WAREHOUSE WILL BE STARTED NEXT MONDAY

Building material is on the ground to start the construction of a large warehouse for the Stewart Feed Mill Company of Sacramento.

The lot is located immediately north of the Doctor Boyd tract on the county highway leading from the M street bridge to West Sacramento headquarters.

The lot consists of one acre which was purchased from the West Sacramento Company at a substantial figure.

Following the completion of the warehouse it is possible that the Stewart people will build a mill for the crushing and mixing of feeds for live stock and chickens. This will supply a long needed demand in this section of Yolo County and being convenient to the wholesale district of Sacramento will be appreciated by wholesalers in the western end of town.

This location is eminently suitable for industries of this kind being located on the line of the Oakland Antioch Railroad and close to the shipping districts of Sacramento and river steamers.

idea was for mothers to learn about childrearing as they helped out at the nursery one day each week, and although we had a hard time explaining the concept to the County Supervisors in Woodland, it turned out to be everything we had hoped it would."

Unfortunately, in 1962, Howard Cheever died from a heart attack and Kay suddenly found herself a widow after only 16 years of marriage.

"It was such a shock," said Kay, "but people have to find a way to go on, and the children and I had ourselves a little meeting and decided that rather than move back to Wisconsin or New Jersey to be near relatives, we would go ahead and stay in West Sacramento. We have never regretted that decision."

In the years that followed, Kay finished her Master's Degree in Education and continued teaching at Westfield Elementary School, a position she held for almost two decades.

"I really loved teaching," said Kay. "I had been taking college night classes since 1935, so when I finally did get to teach, I enjoyed every minute of it. There's nothing more rewarding than interacting with young people and helping them learn."

Kay also began devoting more and more of her free time to being politically active in the community. She fought long and hard for West Sacramento to become a city, worked tirelessly on behalf of Democratic Party politics, and is currently on the Board of Directors of the recently completed Margaret McDowell Manor, which will provide much needed housing for this city's seniors.

Kay's son, Ed Cheever, who works for the State of California getting needed assistance to victims of natural disasters said, "It's nice to have a mother you can really admire. Not only did she spend 19 years teaching in the same first grade classroom at Westfield Elementary School, but when her students moved on to second grade, each and every one of them could read. I've also greatly admired her many years of community service. She's a strong woman with firmly held convictions and she's the person who taught me to appreciate those qualities in other women."

Mary Chastain, Kay's youngest daughter, who is a music teacher and mother of five living in LaCrosse, Washington said, "My father died when my brother, sister and I were all pretty young and my mother really dedicated herself to her children and made sure we continued to be a close knit family. Although we now all live quite a distance from each other, we are still very close to each other in the ways that really count and much of that is because of my mother."

Ellen Cheever, Kay's oldest daughter, who lives on the East Coast and is on the Board of Directors of Heritage Custom Kitchens said, "My mother has been a wonderful mentor. She has consistently let me find my own answers and always allowed me to be me, even if that included wearing matching pink socks and pony tail ribbons and painting my bedroom in polka dots. I feel very lucky to have a mother who has always been supportive and whose judgement I can truly trust."

"After 45 wonderful years of living in West Sacramento," said Kay, "I've recently moved just across the bridge to Pioneer Tower so I can be around more people of my own age, but although I now sleep and eat on the wrong side of the river, my heart will always be in West Sacramento."

In addition to her three children, Kay also has five grandchildren and one great-grandson.

2nd to support Measure R, a school bond on the ballot which will provide funds to renovate River City High School and also make possible the construction of a new cafeteria, library, gymnasium, and 16 classrooms.

"We were recently able to make a number of facility improvements at Vacaville High," said Geivett, "and it made a huge difference. In terms of some of the other things I would like to see happen at River City, test scores need to improve, the campus should be as safe as we can possibly make it, we need to work hard at creating community partnerships, and I also hope to find ways to get our students more involved with community volunteer work. River City is a fine high school with all kinds of potential and I hope to be its principal for a very long time."

"Mort is a very sincere man who is devoted to his family and community and I think he's going to do a fine job at River City," said Pat Flint, the President of the WUSD Board of Trustees. "Not only does he have the kind of background and experience we were looking for, but he's also from West Sacramento and he genuinely cares about young people. He was clearly our best candidate and I think that is reflected by our unanimous vote."

Geivett has lived in West Sacramento since the early 1980s with his wife Pam, who is the School Secretary at Westmore Oaks Elementary School. They have three sons, two who attend River City, and one who attends Westmore Oaks.

Geivett has managed and coached Little League teams for the past decade and his wife was President of the West Sacramento Little League last year.

In the future, such partnerships will need to be strengthened and expanded at the policy, financial and operational levels. These service partnerships must increase in city neighborhoods and at school sites because, to paraphrase Willie Sutton, "That's where the people are." I applaud the exciting and inspirational creation of the Yolo Co. Children's Summit envisioned by Supervisor Dave Rosenberg and developed countywide by local elected and appointed leaders -- public and private. The Children's Summit is a "Partnership Incubator" and deserves the complete and ongoing support of all of us. Fueled by the same high human energy and creativity which has served this county so well in the past, such partnerships will surely lead to more effective prevention and intervention strategies and to safer, happier, more productive people, families and communities.

In case you missed it, I wish to again express my profound respect and deep affection to all the many hundreds of county, city, school and private agency staff persons -- especially those of the Probation Department -- with whom I have been proudly associated for so many years. They have and will continue to serve the citizens of Yolo County with pride and distinction.

In retirement, my wife, Ortrud, who has always been my inspiration, and I look forward in the coming years to renewing old acquaintances, a little travel, and starting a new and exciting phase of our wonderful lives together.

City, school district each hold special meeting tonight

The West Sacramento City Council will hold a special meeting tonight at 6:15 p.m. to consider to items.

The first will be a "strategic planning review," looking at goals and broad strategies set by the council and outlined by city staff to direct city projects and staff work in coming years.

The second will be a review of the city's legal services arrangement. The city currently contracts with the Sacramento law firm Kronick, Moskovitz, Tiedemann & Girard for its attorney services; some council discussion in the past has raised the issue of whether the city ought to instead hire an "in-house" attorney.

Tonight's meeting is open to the public and takes place in the council's chambers, 2101 Stone Blvd.

The Washington Unified School District announced yesterday that its board of trustees will meet at a special meeting tonight from 6 to 9 p.m. at the California School Boards Association, 3100 Beacon Blvd., West Sacramento.

The chief agenda item is a discussion of "district norms."

Following the race, spectators lounged in the sun to listen to the West Sacramento Riverbank Music Festival, featuring Joe Luis Walker and the Bosstalkers as well as The Chrome Addicts and The Lewminators.

While the paid-attendance tally of "a little over 400" was a bit less than hoped for by Don Hill of the sponsoring West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, Hill was optimistic that the event will grow as it continues next year at the same location. The event provided the first use of the "Grand Staircase" portion of the River Walk, adjacent to the stage, and Hill said he is looking forward to next year's music festival when grass and other landscaping nearby is in place.

A portion of the proceeds from the music festival will benefit the West Sacramento Parks and Community Services Dept. and WAVES, the regional organization promoting riverfront development.

RC enforces new PE suit cut policy

Did you know there's a new suit cut policy? You didn't? Well, here it is. The first time a student doesn't dress for P.E. the teacher gives a warning. The second time the teacher will contact the parent with a letter or phone call. The third time the student will serve after school detention. If there is a fourth time Saturday School will be assigned. There is no excuse for a student not to be dressed, except when excused from an activity by a certified medical doctor.

Math placement tests successful

Math placement tests given last spring were a huge success, according to Mrs. Higgins. The tests cut down on the number of students trying to transfer in and out of math classes.

Starting Mon., Sept. 27, there were three new math classes, due to over crowding. Mrs. Higgins said, "I have a sheltered class with 45 students! That is way too many!!"

River City to benefit if Measure R passes

By Jennifer Fiddler
Staff Writer

November 2, 1999, marks a very important day for the Washington Unified School District. "Measure R" will appear on the ballot. If this bond is passed, then the district will receive $17.45 million, to be divided among its schools. And, if it passes, then the state of California will give us an additional $ 20 million, which we don't have to pay back. If the bond doesn't pass, then we don't get any money.

If this bond is passed there is a list of improvements for River City. Some of the highlights include construction of a new gym with locker rooms, and renovation the existing gym. Yes, this does mean that we are going to have two gyms. The existing gym will be used for storage and some of the facilities will still be used.

The existing cafeteria will be converted to a bigger and better library and a new cafeteria/auditorium will be constructed. The existing library will be converted into a counseling center.

Four portable classrooms will be removed to help make room for 16 new classrooms. All classrooms will have the appropriate wires, switches, and cables needed to support classroom computers.

My personal favorite:
bathrooms will be renovated! Also new fire alarms and emergency communication systems, and new security systems will be installed, and upgrade disability access.

Unfortunately when freshman were asked for their opinions, none of them really knew anything about the bond. After explaining it to them, the most common comment was, "Hey that sounds kinda cool!"

Two senior citizens that have lived in this community all of their lives were eager to voice their opinions. Raymond Flores says he is going to vote to pass the bond. Raymond Flores said, " Now that I have gotten old I need to rely on the younger generations. If they have a poor education, then I guess I am out of luck."

A second senior citizen, who preferred not to be named, said that he was not going to vote for the bond. He said," I have been paying my taxes all these years, and some of that money was supposed to go to the education department. And why weren't the minor repairs made when they were necessary?"

A complete list of proposed repairs and renovations has been mailed home to the parents.

Rachelle Johnson, Cassandra Caruthers, and Elizabeth Sexton, are among the 450 freshmen who may see the Measure R improvements.

Science gets PASCO

By Lanna Kalista
Staff Writer

River City High School science department has been very fortunate to obtain the new PASCO computer equipment. It was purchased with $30,000 given to the science department by the State

PASCO measures important information such as temperature, sound, motion, pH, pressure, and force. The new equipment collects accurate lab data, and displays it in the form of graphs and charts projected onto a large screen. This enables the entire class to view the data at the same time. "It will make science labs more fun," commented Mr. Elliot.

There is less work involved, using PASCO. Students and teachers save time because they receive the information almost instantly rather than spending time doing their work manually. Students appreciate having PASCO in the class. One student said, "It's nifty". PASCO is a great addition to RC.

Mr. Fogle listens to Limp Bizkit and KoRn

By Ivy Branaman
Staff Writer

"Limp Bizkit." "KoRn." Two things you're not likely to hear come out of a teacher's mouth, let alone his stereo. But you haven't met Mr. Fogle. "I'm not gray or old," he said, " I listen to KWOD." This 6'4," lanky teacher who listens to KWOD stands out among a crowd of teachers.

John Fogle grew up in Southern California with his brothers and sister. He attended college at UC Santa Barbara. While there he changed his major four different times. His majors ranged from geography to marine biology to pre-med, and finally to history. "I chose history because I could complete all the credits in one year," Mr. Fogle said.

Mr. Fogle has always loved teaching, and kids. "I liked to train the new tellers at the bank where I used to work," he said.

While Mr. Fogle worked at a bank as a teller he was the victim of a hold-up. "I argued with the guy," Mr. Fogle says of the robber, between laughs, "He wanted more hundred dollar bills, and I didn't have any." They ended up yelling at each other, and the robber got away with $ 1,000. "Which isn't much," Mr. Fogle concluded.

Mr. Fogle's summer was far from boring. He traveled to London, Paris, and Spain. His favorite place was Ripoll, Spain, a small, 900-year-old town in the mountains. Mr. Fogle described the town as quiet, and beautiful. He loves traveling and, while he would like to see the whole world, he would especially like to see Japan, and re-visit Germany.

When not traveling the world Mr. Fogle teaches 9th and 10th grade Family Life Education as well as a 12th grade government class. This is a switch from teaching 8th grade U.S. History at Golden State, where he's taught for the last two years. He claims teaching seniors is much easier because they're mature, and they turn in the work on time "because they know they need the class in order to graduate." He has taught a government class for seniors before at Florin high school.

The next time you see a 6'4," lanky male teacher walking your way ask him about Limp Bizkit, Ripoll, Spain, or the time he argued with a bank robber.

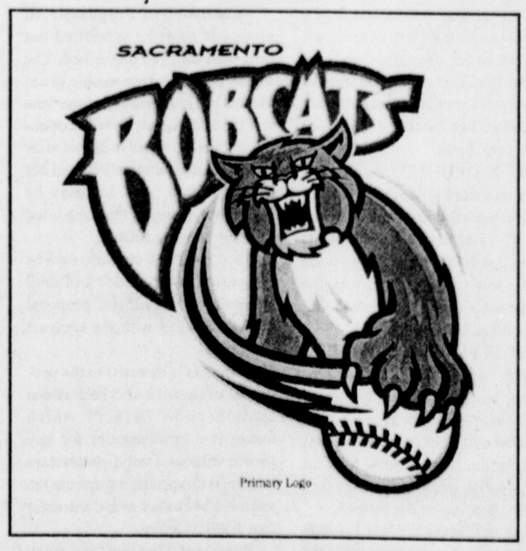
RC votes on favorite logos for West Sac's AAA baseball team

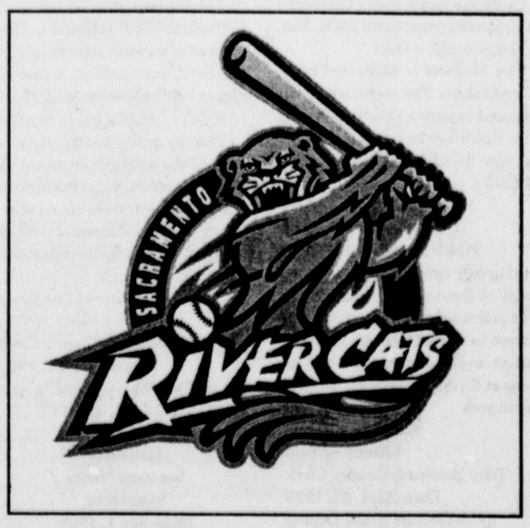


By Shelley Tuttle
Staff Writer

RC students chose the Sacramento Bobcats and Sacramento River Cats logos as their favorite designs for Sacramento's new AAA baseball team. Representatives of Sacramento's new AAA baseball team visited River City earlier this month to get an idea of what our campus thinks about the team's suggested logos. Over 350 students who stopped by the library at their lunch gave input by grading each name, logo, and color on an "A" through "F" scale.

Among the designs students graded were the Sacramento River Otters and Sacramento Condors logos, which were both maroon and green, the Sacramento River Cats logo, which was green and blue, and the Sacramento Bobcats logo, which was green and red.

No one knows for sure if any of the logos displayed will even be used by the team, but they are still interested in how the 14-18 year old crowd reacted to certain team colors and designs. Though similar surveys were taken other places for those under 14 years of age and over 18 years old, RC was the only high school visited by those involved with Sacramento's AAA baseball.



Team representatives will be returning again very soon, when they will announce the results of the teams opening day ticket raffle being held for those who participated in the survey.

Sports and Activities

Frosh football undefeated

By Olivia De Mars
Sports Editor

Although not many people pay much attention to the freshman football team you will be surprised to find out that they are recently 3-0 in their season.

In the first game against Natomas High School, the River City Raiders held the Nighthawks to a score of 0-0 until the final three minutes in the fourth quarter. Jason De Mars' blocked punt set up a touchdown for the Nighthawks, but the RC defense stopped them from scoring the two-point conversion. On the kick-off that gave the ball back to the Raiders, Antonio Castro ran the ball down to the 50-yard line and fumbled, only to recover it for a gain of three yards. The offense set up a running drive with six handoffs up the middle to bring the ball to the five-yard line when Jason De Mars ran the 32 wedge up the middle to give the Raiders a 6-6 tie. They went for the extra two points to win the game. The offense ran a 31 counter right with Jason De Mars to make the final score 8-6.

Their next game was another great win for the freshmen against the Yuba City Honkers. They played the "A" team of the school, a division one team, made up of the best Yuba City players, about 75 on one squad. RC received the opening kick off and Antonio Castro tore up the field for the opening touchdown that made the score 6-0. Antonio scored again in the second quarter to make the score 12-0. The remainder of the game was dead since neither team scored.

> In the most recent game, the Raiders played the Vanden Vikings and stomped them with a score of 26-14.

In the most recent game, the Raiders played the Vanden Vikings and stomped them with a score of 26-14, with touchdowns from Antonio Castro, Justin Hunt, and Jason De Mars. The first goal in the game was scored by the Vikings with a two-point conversion which made the score 0-8 in the end of the first quarter. With the Raiders opening offensive drive, they brought the ball down to the six-yard line, and Antonio Castro ran the ball up the middle for the T.D. To make the score 8-8, Jason De Mars ran the ball in on a passing play for the two-point conversion.

On the opening kick-off of the second half the Vikings scored and put the ball in the end zone again and missed the two-point conversion to make the score 14-8. In the end of the third quarter the Raiders' offensive drive moved up the field and on a 32 wedge they ran the ball in for the T.D. The failed field goal kept the score at 20-14. The freshman defense held the Vikings' offense in the fourth quarter and that set up a touchdown to make the score 28-14 after the two-point conversion. The Vikings had another chance on offense, but the Raider defense held them to make the final score in favor of the Raiders 28-14.

Varsity soccer 5-0 as of Sept. 23

By Brianne Vaughan
Staff Writer

The crowd holds its breath. Sou Saetern (#5) holds the ball over his head, jumps two feet off the ground, does a full body whip, and throws the ball back in. The soccer season has begun at RC.

Since the season started on Sept. 10, RC's varsity soccer team is undefeated. Jayvee, however, has lost the only two games they've played. Soccer is a tough sport and RC has exceptional players, says Coach Restivo. Star players include seniors Cory Clonce, Morton Geivett, and goalie Andrew Hoekstra. Coach Restivo and the team have high hopes of finishing the season in November in the top two to be in the playoffs. There are a lot of good teams in the league and RC's spot in the playoffs will be determined by who shows up mentally at games, not just physically. It's a test of wills, a physically demanding two-hour game with no time-outs.

Assisting Coach Restivo this year is Memo Villegas, who graduated from RC 20 years ago. Mr. Villegas is a "well-respected, talented guy," as Coach Restivo claims.

Our soccer games have spectators, but they could always use more. The booster club is selling refreshments, so bring some money, get a soda, see a friend, work on your tan, and watch a great game. Games are Tuesdays and Thursdays. The next home game is Thurs, Oct. 7, at 4:00 against Mesa Verde.

By Shelley Tuttle
Staff Writer

River City's freshman volleyball team currently has a 0-1 record as they begin their league games for the 1999 season.

In their first G.E.L. match against Golden Sierra, RC fought hard against the Grizzlies, but were finally defeated by them with a 2-1 match score.

"We played a strong mental and physical game in Golden Sierra," said freshman player Megan Stockdale, "but they got us in the end. Next time we'll be ready for them."

Their next home game will be against Marysville on Sept. 30.

Second Mile needs teen center

Yolanda Griffith, WNBA basketball star, helps Second Mile in fund raising dinner

By Olivia De Mars
Sports Editor

Did you know that approximately 16 percent of all births in West Sacramento are to teenage mothers? That's one of the highest percentages in this nation.

Did you also know that 25 percent of Washington Unified School District students drop out by the 12th grade?

As of April, 1999, there existed not one single skateboard park in West Sacramento. Or miniature golf course. Or movie theater. Or video arcade. Or wall-climbing gym. Or mall. Or live music hot spot. Or open gymnasium. Or racquet ball court. Or . . .

"We need a teen center," says Don Bosley, a member of the executive committee for the Second Mile Teen Center, "a teen center with a basketball court, computers, pin ball machines, but we basically need a teen center just for kids to come hang out in a safe place."

Mr. Bosley, who likes to be called Don, has been working for over two years to get the Second Mile Teen Center off the ground. He has had many offers from sponsors and organizations to purchase a building to house the teen center, but they are looking for the proof that the teen center will be able to pay for all the other things required to run it.

In fact, Mr. Bosley has arranged for Yolanda Griffith, the 6'4" MVP WNBA star to be at the Youth Achievement Dinner Fundraiser on Oct. 9, which will raise money to help pay for Second Mile Teen Center. This will be the first fundraiser dinner for the Second Mile.

Second Mile not only hopes to have a fun place for teens to hang out, it also continues to plan fun events that are specifically for teens. For instance, Second Mile will have its own float in the Community Day Parade on Oct. 9 and teens get to build the float.

Girls, have you ever wanted to play football? Second Mile has its own girl flag football team. They practice for two weeks and have a big tournament to determine who the best team is. Sign ups are in the beginning of November.

Mr. Bosley came to River City on September 8, handing out fliers and booklets that told all about Second Mile and what it was all about.

"We need teens to get involved," said Don. "This teen center belongs to them and it's for them. It will give teens and younger youths something to do in their free time, and have fun."

Varsity football beats Vanden

By Jason De Mars
Staff Writer

Varsity football began the season in a non-league game against the Natomas Nighthawks. They started out on an offensive drive, which brought them to the 30-yard line. They gave the ball to Malfred Shaw who ran a sweep to the left and was shocked to see all of the Natomas players blocking the hole he was supposed to run through. So, running back ten yards, he cut back to the opposite side of the field, where he was free to run in for a touch down, making the score 6-0. The Raiders defense stopped the Nighthawks, which forced them to punt. The offense took over, but the mental mistakes started and the offense fell apart, making penalties, which brought the offense to third and long. The rest of the first half was scoreless.

The third quarter opened with a kick return touchdown run by Marshaun Tate. In the final minutes of the fourth quarter, Malfred Shaw fumbled on the 35-yard line and a Nighthawk player picked up the ball. The fumble set up a touchdown for Natomas.

Arnold Mendez commented, "We need to get in better shape and not give up in the fourth quarter. That's where we lost both our games. The offensive line unanimously said, "We need to pass block better so Brooks can have time to throw the ball."

> "You talk with your pads and not with your mouth."
> -- Coach Watkins

The second non-league game was against the Dixon Rams. The Raiders started with an offensive drive and scored and scored once again with Morton Geivett's field goal to make the score 7-0. Dixon came back and scored which made the score 7-6. The Raiders scored again in the second quarter, and they left for half time with a score of 13-6.

In the beginning of the second half, the Raiders had a few setbacks with a bad snap to the punter who turned around and kicked the ball into the end-zone that gave them a two-point touchback. The Rams scored one more time to make the score 13-14. The Raiders scored again to take back the lead 19-14. In the final minutes of the game, Dixon found themselves on the six yard line. Their quarterback did a bootleg left run, but fell short of the goal line. The referees saw his legs go in and not the ball, but it was counted as a touchdown. The final score was 19-20, Dixon.

In the most recent game against the Vandon Vikings, the Raiders pulled away with the victory. The team played as one and, as Coach Watkins always says, "You talk with your pads and not with your mouth." That is exactly what the Raiders did, because in this game the Raiders worked as one, making fewer penalties and making great hits. Brooks Marino had two interceptions, one fumble recovery and he ran it back to score, which made the score 32-27.

Renaissance rewards modern-day scholars

By Olivia De Mars
Sports Editor

Renaissance. The name brings you to the 1600's and to all the knowledge that accumulated during that age. Famous painters like Michelangelo and DeVinci and writers like Shakespeare. Renaissance was a time of free thinking and so many great ideas and philosophies came about in the 1600's that started a new revolution.

Well, Renaissance rewards those that show intelligence and good citizenship. Renaissance offers students rewards for good grades and behavior. Although one might tend to think that only students with good grades can join, this is not the case. Renaissance has four levels of acceptance, all the way from Gold for 4.0 students to Blue, which is for anyone who will raise his/her grade point average by .50 percent each semester.

"Getting into Renaissance is as easy as filling out an application," says Ms. Green, one of the Renaissance committee members. "All you have to do is be accepted, and we give out all the prizes and rewards."

Renaissance gives out prizes at each rally from a free class ring to a school T-shirt. They also give a goody bag to Renaissance students before finals and during special holidays.

You got your fake ID. You're getting your groove on in a killer club. The DJ's spinning a Pet Shop Boys record. Or, TLC's favorite videos are playing on MTV with the Pet Shop Boys' vid "West End Girls" in the top 10.

The Pet Shop Boys have had a gazillion UK and US top ten hit singles and five #1's, including "West End Girls," "It's A Sin," and everyone's fave-and I mean EVERYONE'S-"Always On My Mind." Everyone's cool older brother and sister listen to the Pet Shop Boys. So, why don't you?

The Pet Shop Boys formed in London, the trendiest city in the world (and that's not just my opinion, it's a fact). They are Neil Tennant and Chris Lowe, who play electronic dance music. Now, the problem with that kind of music is that it lacks personality, but that is not the case with The Pet Shop Boys, which means you can listen to them on and off the dance floor.

The Pet Shop Boys are excellent songwriters (says Spin mag, Rolling Stone, and your cool older brother). Their lyrics deal with the fun side of urban life, from yuppie coffee houses to downtown street life, money, parties in foreign places, the boredom of suburban life, friends, infidelity, and jealousy.

In their 13 years together, they have released nine multi-platinum albums (for any of you who don't know, that means all their records have sold over a million copies each), including Behavior, Actually (who could forget vocalist Neil Tennant yawning on the cover?), and their newest, Nightlife, released on Sept. 28, which brings them to Sac. On Nov. 3.

Only the trendiest people will be there. Do you want to miss out on that? Call Bass Tickets (766-BASS, but you should have already known that) for details.

Decathlon match of wits

By Michael Slack
Staff Writer

Many imagine being on a T.V. game show. Most of us never will, but the next best thing might be Academic Decathlon, here at River City High School, led by Mr. Sanborn.

Academic Decathlon is a competition of wits among high schools all over the United States. The theme of this year's competition is man's impact on the earth. River City will compete in art, music, social sciences, economics, and science, against four other Yolo county schools—Woodland, Davis, Esparto, and Winters— at Woodland High School, Feb. 5.

The Academic Decathlon class currently is held during seventh period as an elective, with 13 students. Only three groups of three each, and three alternates will be chosen to compete.

Question in the Quad

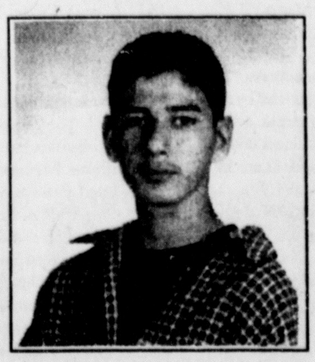
Everywhere you look someone has a tattoo of a symbol or name. So the Review decided to ask, "If you could get a tattoo, what would it be and where would you get it?" Here is what some River City students had to say.

I would get a Superman symbol on my arm.

Pablo Contreras
Sophomore

I'd get Eeyore upside down standing on a cloud.

Joy Kinney
Junior



I would get a Pikachu on my arm.

Frankie Medina
Senior

I would get Scooby Doo on my shoulder blade.

Sierra Beshears

The News-Ledger cares about West Sacramento.

The city's best read local classified ad section is in the News-Ledger:

Only $3.50 for up to 25 words!

Mail your ad & payment to The News-Ledger, P.O. Box 463, West Sacramento, CA 95691. Ad deadline is Monday.

HOW TO WRITE AN OBITUARY FOR YOUR TEENAGER.

YOU sit and watch your child sleep. The hospital intercom serves as a constant reminder of where you are. You tuck in the blanket around his feet. He hasn't moved since you last tucked it in, but it gives you something to do. It's been two days since your child's friends carried him into the emergency room. The doctor says it's a losing battle. You're not ready for that.

✱ LISTING THE cause of death in the obituary is at the family's discretion.

When the hospital called, you thought it was a minor cut, another broken collarbone. The hospital nurse mentioned inhalants. That was a mistake, you thought. But you soon learned "sniffing" – inhaling household products to get high – was not a mistake. It was a habit. A habit that could've started with over 100 ordinary, everyday products like gasoline, correction fluid and spray paint. A habit that makes paraphernalia out of socks, soda cans, lunch bags. A habit that can damage the brain, heart, kidneys, liver. A habit that can even kill the very first time. You stare at your child, and wonder if maybe that wouldn't have been better.

✱ IT IS APPROPRIATE to include the child's nickname if well-known.

It's been 16 hours since your child was pronounced dead. The relatives you phoned didn't know about inhalants. It seems no one did. You haven't slept in two days but somehow, you keep going. Because you have a funeral to arrange. And people to console. And someone from the obituary section is on the phone. They need to know about the child you just lost.

✱ FAMILIES WILL often prefer to have the funeral home handle the obituary.

Could this be your child? We hope not. For more information about sniffing, please call 1-800-729-6686. There are signs to look for. You just need to know what they are.
